Proguard Protection Services, Inc. Announces Acquisition of Vail Alarm, Inc. dba Intermountain Systems

AVON, CO (Sept. 2, 2026) — Proguard Protection Services, Inc., of Aspen is pleased to announce the official acquisition of Vail Alarm, Inc. This strategic union establishes Intermountain Systems powered by Proguard, combining strong regional expertise and operational resources to deliver enhanced life safety, security, and fire protection solutions across the Vail Valley.

Our highest priority during this operational transition is complete service continuity and seamless account management for all existing clients. By leveraging expanded technical infrastructure, upgraded central station monitoring, and dedicated local support teams based in Avon, Intermountain Systems powered by Proguard Protection Services will build upon a decades-long legacy of trusted community protection.

"Our mission has always been grounded in providing uncompromising safety and rapid, reliable support to the homes and businesses of the Vail Valley," said Annette Anderson, legacy principal of Vail Alarm, Inc. "Partnering with Proguard allows our team to leverage advanced technological resources while ensuring our clients continue to receive the personalized, local care they have trusted for years."

"We are honored to welcome the clients and team members of Vail Alarm into the Proguard family," said Frank Bauer, President of Proguard Protection Services. "By uniting our market-leading Aspen and Breckenridge teams with legacy Vail Alarm staff under Intermountain Systems, we are expanding our local footprint and ensuring long-term operational excellence, faster field response, and top-tier security infrastructure for the entire Western Slope."
